WELCOME

Peter Loomer, BSc, DDS, PhD, MRCD
Chair

Ashman Department of Periodontology
and Implant Dentistry | New York University

Welcome back to New York City and The NYU College of Dentistry!

It is my distinct pleasure to welcome our alumni back to NYUCD and to this unique celebration of your accomplishments in the field of implant dentistry and oral health.

This year we are honored with presentations by esteemed alumni from around the world. I look forward to the exchange of scientific knowledge with a unique global perspective that only an alumni of such international stature can bring to us.

My deepest gratitude to Dr. Sang-Choon Cho and the implantology faculty and staff for their ever present dedication to the Advanced Program for International Dentists in Implant Dentistry. Congratulations on the success of our students and alumni.

14TH ANNUAL IMPLANT ALUMNI SYMPOSIUM

Sang-Choon Cho, DDS, MS

Director

Advanced Program for International Dentists
in Implant Dentistry | New York University
2015 Implant Alumni Symposium Chairman

On behalf of the Scientific Committee, it is my pleasure to welcome alumni, students, faculty and honored guests to the 14th Annual Implant Alumni Symposium. This is an exciting time for our program and for this year's event. We have a unique gathering of alumni from around the world and the United States. I would like to extend our gratitude to the participants in this symposium.

The Implant Alumni Symposium offers the opportunity for us to re-connect and exchange the valuable learning experiences we have gained since our participation in the program. This is a wonderful opportunity to share knowledge, research and clinical experiences.

I would like to thank the entire team of faculty, students, alumni and University staff for their contributions to, and help in, organizing this event. I look forward to the presentation of ideas and to more opportunities for future collaborations and further research.

Enjoy your day and your return to New York City and the New York University College of Dentistry.

Roque Braz de Oliveira, DDS, MS

President

Implant Alumni Association | New York University

Welcome! This year's meeting is a challenge to us all, as we aim to evolve into a special dedicated forum discussing long- term data, for sustainable scientifically proven solutions. The 2015 Implant Alumni Symposium will create a shift in our meeting paradigm, and hopefully, will create a benchmark in our Dentistry community. That is why you need to join us and bring real, long term data, reflecting your best practice cases, and share along with us in the unique and interesting presentations that we have gathered for you, our alumni. With this challenge I look forward to taking further steps toward bright and sustainable evidence-based solutions, and to strengthening the cohesion and efficiency within our community of alumni. A warm thank you to all of the speakers for taking the time to be here and share your long term data and cases, to the faculty and University staff for their commitment, and to all of you who've come from all corners of the globe. I hope we are able to succeed in our goal and make this a benchmark for the future. I wish you the most pleasant stay in our joyful city.
