We recommend that you create and submit an online application to begin the process even if you are waiting for required documents to be complete. Documents can be uploaded, emailed or mailed to our attention after submission of the application at this address:

Office for International Programs
New York University College of Dentistry
433 First Avenue, Suite 125
New York, NY 10010
USA

ADMISSION DECISION

Application decision notifications are sent via email to all applicants, with instructions on logging into the online application system to view the decision letter.

If accepted, the acceptance letter will have step-by-step instructions on submitting a tuition deposit to hold your position in the program and to begin the I-20 application process (the first step of the F-1 student visa) through the NYU Office for Global Services (OGS) office.

Applicants who are not selected must wait one calendar year before re-applying to any international program.

TUITION & COST OF LIVING

The tuition and fees (instrument rental, health insurance, etc.) for academic year 2016-2017 are:

Advanced Programs for International Dentists (Clinical Programs)	$87,920
--	-----------------

The annual cost of living for all programs is approximately:	$24,000
--	-----------------

Please note:

- There is a 3-5% increase in tuition, fees and living expenses annually
- No financial aid, private loans and scholarships are available for these programs

ARRIVAL & HOUSING

Your F-1 student visa allows you entry into the USA 30 days prior to the start of your program. We recommend that you arrive at least three weeks in advance of the program start date so that you are able to find an apartment and complete the required pre-orientation check in workshops.

Apartments in NYC become available when they are ready to rent, not months before. Plan on staying in a hotel or with friends for the first week while you are apartment searching. The Office for International Programs can assist you in identifying available apartments, connecting you to incoming students for roommates, outgoing students for furniture sales/donations.

Links to Welcome and Arrival Resources are sent to all incoming participants in advance of arrival.

ORIENTATION

Orientation is required for all participants and includes university and department policies and protocols, clinical affairs protocols, training on Electronic Health Records, CPR, university life, student services, OGS immigration workshops, among other required trainings needed to successfully enter the clinical environment.

The official start date of all programs is July 1. Orientation may begin several days before or after this date. Please refer to the Welcome & Arrival Information.
