

Repayment Primer

Tips to Help You Prepare to Enter Repayment on Your Student Loans Class of 2014 Dental Hygiene Graduates

This Repayment Primer is intended to help you better manage your student loans as you prepare for the transition from your dental hygiene program into your dental career. You will be working with your loan servicer(s) in repayment, so be sure your address and contact information is up to date and pay special attention to any correspondence from loan servicers.

In this Primer:

- Decision Points (what happens when you graduate)
- Repayment Options
- Forgiveness Programs
- Consolidation (there is a separate primer on this, see your school's FAO)
- Postponing Payments during post-doctoral work
- Loan Servicing (there is a separate primer on this, see your school's FAO)
- Resources (where to go for help)

Decision points (what happens when you graduate)

- When you graduate, your loan servicer(s) is notified that you are no longer in school and you automatically enter any Grace or similar period(s) you have on your student loans
 - Different loans may have different Grace periods, so loans may enter repayment at different times
 - Stafford Loans have a 6 month Grace period
 - Perkins Loans have a 9 month Grace period
 - Private Loans have Grace periods that will vary depending on the lender (examples include 6 and 9 months)
 - Some loans do not have Grace periods and may come due immediately upon graduation (watch for correspondence from your loan servicer)
 - Grace periods are "loan specific", so if you used up a Grace period on any loans you had before starting your dental hygiene program, those Grace periods are gone and those loans will come due when you graduate, 6 months earlier than some others
- Approximately 30-45 days prior to the expiration of your Grace period, watch for a notice from your loan servicer that your loan is about to enter repayment
 - Be sure your loan servicer(s) has your current address

Decision points (continued)

- Notice from loan servicer(s) should reference several options, but you can boil them down into two:
 1. Choose a repayment plan from among several options and start actively repaying your student loans, or
 2. Choose to postpone your payments through Deferment or Forbearance

Repayment options

The repayment options listed below are for Stafford, Grad PLUS, and Federal Consolidation Loans. See www.StudentLoans.gov under Managing Repayment for details. While there are some restrictions, you may switch repayment plans if needed; contact your loan servicer(s) if you have questions about changing repayment plans. Repayment term for Perkins is 10 years. Check your promissory note and/or disclosure statement for repayment terms on any institutional and/or private loans you may have.

- Standard (Level)
 - 10 years, same payment each month
 - Loan servicer will automatically place you in Standard 10 year repayment should you not choose a repayment plan when given the opportunity
 - Monthly payments higher than other plans, but total repayment costs are lower
 - Standard repayment term for Federal Consolidation Loans may be 30 years (look carefully at correspondence from loan servicer)
 - 10 year Standard repayment possibly part of a repayment strategy for dental hygiene graduate who has a steady income, whose starting salary is higher than their current debt level, and/or whose budget allows for the relatively higher payments under a Standard 10 year plan
- Graduated
 - Payments start lower and increase by designated amounts at designated intervals
 - May be 10 years, though some loan servicers may offer interest-only plans that may extend the repayment term
 - Initial lower payments result in higher overall repayment costs when compared with Standard, unless payments later accelerated
 - Possibly part of repayment strategy for dental hygiene graduate who has a steady income and who could otherwise handle payments under Standard, but who has other financial commitments that need to be addressed, but over a relatively short period of time

- Income-Driven Plans
 - Monthly payments are tied, at least in part, to income
 - Multiple kinds, including Income Based Repayment (IBR), Pay As You Earn (PAYE), Income Contingent Repayment (ICR), and Income Sensitive Repayment (ISR)
 - IBR and PAYE usually offer the lowest monthly payment of the various income-related plans
 - Borrower must renew eligibility each year
 - Initial and/or subsequent lower payments result in higher overall repayment costs when compared with Standard 10 year plan unless payments later accelerated
 - PLEASE NOTE:
 - IBR available for eligible borrowers on both FFEL and Direct Loans (FFEL are federal loans from private lenders and Direct Loans are federal loans taken out “directly” from the government)
 - Pay As You Earn available for eligible borrowers on Direct Loans only
 - Information on income-driven plans available at www.StudentLoans.gov under Managing Repayment
 - Possibly part of repayment strategy for dental hygiene graduate whose income is not high enough to support repayment under other plans like Standard, Graduated, or even Extended repayment; may also be of interest to dental hygiene graduates who are interested in Public Service Loan Forgiveness and whose dental career is consistent with public service (non-profit work); see www.StudentLoans.gov under Managing Repayment for information on PSLF
- Extended (without consolidation)
 - Up to 25 years, same payment each month
 - Graduated version of Extended plan may be available (contact loan servicer)
 - Lower payments over extended period of time result in much higher overall repayment costs when compared with Standard 10 year, unless payments later accelerated
 - Possibly part of repayment strategy for dental hygiene graduate who has steady income but high debt, and needs the benefit of lower payments; may also be of interest to borrowers who need to show a lower DTI (debt to income) ratio for purposes of financing a home

The federal government will forgive a borrower's student loan debt under certain conditions and if borrowers meet certain eligibility requirements. You can get more information on forgiveness programs at www.StudentLoans.gov under Managing Repayment. The following is a brief description of these programs:

Income Based Repayment (IBR) 25 Year Forgiveness

- Borrower repays with IBR for 25 years and still has not repaid balance in full
- Remaining balance after 25 years is forgiven
- Forgiveness provision is not conditional on type employment
- Forgiveness amount will be subject to tax under current tax law
- Forgiveness applies to both Direct Loans and FFEL Loans

Paye As You Earn (PAYE) 20 Year Forgiveness

- Borrower repays with PAYE for 20 years and still has not repaid balance in full
- Remaining balance after 20 years is forgiven
- Forgiveness provision is not conditional on type employment
- Forgiveness amount will be subject to tax under current tax law
- Forgiveness applies only to Direct Loans

Public Service Loan Forgiveness (PSLF)

- Three things must happen at the same time, for borrowers to qualify for PSLF.
 - Borrower must make 120 timely, scheduled payments with an eligible repayment plan such as IBR or PAYE, on
 - Direct Loans (only Direct Loans qualify for PSLF), while
 - Working for an eligible public servicer employer (which includes non-profits)
- Forgiveness amount under PSLF is not subject to tax under current tax law.

Consolidation

Consolidation is a process whereby you pay off multiple loans with one new loan. There are both advantages and disadvantages to consolidation, and while it is an effective debt management tool for some dental hygiene graduates, it is not appropriate for everyone and we anticipate many dental hygiene graduates in the Class of 2014 may not need consolidation.

Postponing Payments

- Two ways to postpone payments on federal loans: Deferment and Forbearance
- See www.StudentLoans.gov under Managing Repayment for details or contact your loan servicer(s)
 - Check promissory note and disclosure statements for postponement options on non-federal loans including private and institutional loans
- Quick factoids regarding Deferment and Forbearance:
 - Subsidized loans remain interest free during Deferment
 - Interest accrues on all loans during Forbearance
 - Borrowers remain in “Good Standing” during both Deferment and Forbearance (credit is protected)
 - Borrowers must meet specific statutory requirements for Deferment eligibility
 - Loan Servicers have some discretion granting Forbearance
 - Borrowers must submit multiple Deferment/Forbearance requests if they have more than one loan servicer

Loan Servicing

One of the biggest challenges you may face managing your student loans is dealing with loan servicers. Loan servicers are organizations hired by your lender or current loan holder to work with you in repayment. The Department of Education is committed to helping ensure you have only one loan servicer for loans they own, so while you likely have multiple loans as you exit your dental hygiene program, all your federally owned loans should be with one loan servicer.

Resources (where to go for help)

These Web sites may prove helpful as you craft together your repayment strategy:

www.AAMC.org/GoDental

- Dental Loan Organizer and Calculator (DLOC)
- DLOC allows dental school students and graduates to customize their repayment strategy by running repayment calculations based on their own debt and salary expectations
- Estimates forgiveness amounts under IBR, PAYE, and Public Service Loan Forgiveness
- While designed for dental school students and graduates, may prove helpful for dental hygiene students and graduates as well

www.StudentLoans.gov

- Federal site with information on:
 - Repayment options, including calculators for Income Based Repayment (IBR) and Pay As You Earn (PAYE)
 - Forgiveness programs, including Public Service Loan Forgiveness (PSLF)
 - Loan Servicers
 - Postponement options, including Deferment and Forbearance
 - Consolidation, including the online application

www.NSLDS.ed.gov (National Student Loan Data System)

- Comprehensive listing of all Stafford, Grad PLUS, Federal Consolidation, and Perkins Loans, including information on servicers (click the number to the left of each loan)
- Direct Loans (“directly from government”) will say “Direct” in the name listed on NSLDS
